BEAVER DAM'S GREATEST STORE,

The central and most economical trading place for the purchasing public of the entire Green River Country. This great establishment has made Beaver Dam famous as the largest distributing point in this section of the State. It buys more goods, buys better goods and sells them at more reasonable prices, as is evidenced by the SEAL OF APPROVAL set by hundreds of satisfied customers. Spurred on by this successful verdict, we are determined to keep alive and increase the interest we have already awakened, by offering GENUINE VALUES throughout the entire season. Since our buyers returned from the market, our time has been completely taken up in preparing an unusually large number of our patterns for Easter. We beg to announce that we have prepared our main building, and that every department is full of the season's newest and sappiest merchandise that it was possible for our experienced and tasty buyers to procure. Everything new and spring-like. Do not fail to take a peep into our great stores of Spring Styles and Fashions.

JOHN HENRY THOMAS, Editor.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4.

An unusually modest March wind began to blow arrogantly in its last days, and blew out thirty lives and five million dollars' worth of property, Sunday.

MARK HANNA is asking his friends to discourage the effort being made to bring him forward as a presidential candidate. That he is sincere about this matter, those who know his real character do not doubt, but the popular demand for his candidacy increases with the increasing popular faith in his sincerity.

COL. WATKINSON is paying an awful price for the possibility of two nominations. After a fearless fight of fifty years for the fittest, as he saw it, he now out-Bryans Bryan in his appeals to the rabble. The frank, fearless journalist becomes the fawning, fearful office-hunter. But of such is the kingdom of politics.

JUDGE John J. Milliken, of Franklin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals, was in Hartford last week, and Judge Warren E. Settle, of Bowling Green, is here this week on a similar mission. We do not enjoy the confidence of Democratic counsel, but it looks to an outsider, like Judge Milliken's case in Ohio county was pretty well settled.

CHIEFLY through the efforts of Hon. A. S. Bennett a bill was passed at the recent session of the Legislature fixing the charges of mills grinding for toll at one-eighth for steam mills and one-seventh for water mills. A similar law already existed, except that it applied only to custom mills and the millers took advantage of the provisions of the law by incorporating as merchant mills. The new law will take effect in May. The full text of the bill will appear next week.

CORGRESSMAN Richardson, the Democrat floor leader, played a game of cheap politics in the House last week, by reporting "something rotten in Denmark." Richardson reported to the House that the Kingdom of Denmark, through its secret agents, had expended $500,000 in bribing Congressmen in the matter of the sale of the Danish Antilles to the United States. Richardson's little political bomb has exploded, damaging only its author.

WATCH our issue of May 3rd. We will be so many years old that day, and in order to have the paper contain an unusual feature on our birthday, we are going to publish a list of our lost friends. THE REPUBLICAN has some friends it has not seen or heard from for several years, and lest they be dead or moved away and not receiving the weekly message we send them, we will publish their names and addresses that our other friends may advise us of their whereabouts. Watch our issue of the 3rd of May.

THE prevalence of murder and other serious crimes in Ohio county is simply appalling. There are confined in the jail here two men charged with murder, two charged with house-breaking, to say nothing of a score of others charged with grave crimes, who are out on bond. Life and property are no longer secure, and as a result of this state of affairs, the courts established for the protection of both have fallen into popular contempt. This condition will not always be endorsed by the peace and order-loving citizens of Ohio county. The time is not far distant, if shocking crimes continue to accumulate, when the fury of a mob will bring lasting shame upon the court that forces men to preserve the peace of the community by desperate means.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. For sale by all druggists.

JAKE EDWIN ROWE

Was Indicted Saturday in Hancock County for Being Drunk on Duty.

Jake Rowe has been indicted again says the Owensboro Inquirer. At Hawesville Saturday the grand jury of Hancock county returned a true bill against him, charging him with being drunk while in the discharge of his official duty, and being incapacitated for that reason. This leaves McLean county with the invidious distinction of being the only county in the district in which he has not been indicted, though he has been drunk as many times in that county when he should have been attending to the duties of the office to which he was elected by the people, as in any other county in the district.

The people of the district have wondered whether or not there was any way of getting rid of Rowe as commonwealth's attorney. They have been told that the only remedy was through impeachment proceedings in the senate, but the best lawyers are now of the opinion that the indictment now pending against him in the Davies circuit court, if successful, offers a sure means of removing him from the office that he has disgraced to long.

It will be remembered that at the former term of the court Attorney Hays, sitting as special judge, sustained a demurrer to an indictment for malfeasance in office, committed by receiving money from and corruptly agreeing with William Powell and Forrest Hitter to dismiss the charge against them for suffering gaming on their premises, and receiving from them $50 in consideration of which sum he agreed to and did dismiss the indictments against them. The court of appeals reversed Judge Hays' decision, and in the opinion used the following words: "The commonwealth's attorney is the representative of the state in all criminal proceedings in his district. If he may compound crime and allow the murderer to go unpunished, then the administration of justice may be stifled until the legislature meets in its biennial session of sixty days. The tardy remedy by impeachment is wholly inadequate."

The opinion, written by Judge Hobson, states the law to be that upon conviction Rowe may be removed from office, shall be fined not less than $200 nor more than $1,000, and barred from the right of suffrage for ten years.

The proof before the grand jury was positive, the parties who paid the money being before that body and exhibited the receipts given them by Rowe. It is presumed that the proof will be the same on the trial of the case, in which event conviction is certain. The full penalty will be insisted on by County Attorney Clements, and in this demand he will be backed by an outraged people, and the judgment will follow the law. Mr. Clements says he will be ready at the April term of court. The case is set for hearing on April 16. Rowe will insist on a continuance, but it is not believed that it will be necessary to grant it.

Sons of Veterans will meet in Hartford Saturday April 5, 1902. Important meeting. Every member is earnestly requested to attend.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somewhat the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Scott's Emulsion

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

50c and $1.00, all druggists.

MALARIA

An Invisible Enemy to Health

Means bad air, and whether it comes from the low lands and marshes of the country, or the filthy sewers and drain pipes of the cities and towns, its effect upon the human system is the same. These atmospheric poisons are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood, and the foundation of some long, debilitating illness is laid. Chills and fever, chronic dyspepsia, torpid and enlarged liver, kidney troubles, jaundice and biliousness are frequently due to that invisible foe, Malaria. Noxious gases and unhealthy matter collect in the system because the liver and kidneys fail to act, and are poured into the blood current until it becomes so polluted and sluggish that the poisons literally break through the skin, and carbuncles, boils, abscesses, ulcers and various eruptions of an indolent character appear, depleting the system, and threatening life itself.

The germs and poisons that so oppress and weaken the body and destroy the life-giving properties of the blood, rendering it thin and watery, must be overcome and carried out of the system before the patient can hope to get rid of Malaria and its effects.

S. S. S. does this and quickly produces an entire change in the blood, reaching every organ and stimulating them to vigorous, healthy action. S. S. S. possesses not only purifying but tonic properties, and the general health improves, and the appetite increases almost from the first dose. There is no Mercury, Potash, Arsenic or other mineral in S. S. S. It is strictly and entirely a vegetable remedy.

Write us about your case, and our physicians will gladly help you by their advice to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases sent free.

Mrs. James was a devoted member of the Christian church, a most estimable lady, neighbor and friend. She leaves a devoted husband, with whom she associated for more than forty years, and four children.

The matrimonial fever seems to be contagious in the family of Mr. Jerome Allen, near Jingo. December 9, 1901, John L. Allen married Miss Delilah Stevens, January 15, 1902, Henry Allen married Miss Mary Schampire and March 30, Miss Susie Allen was married to Mr. Joseph Snell. If there is another family in Ohio county that can beat the marrying record of this one we should like to hear from it.

Since we announced that Ohio county had a genuine divine healer in the person of good old farmer, Eli Howard, some jealous partisan of John Alexander Dowie, the Chicago divine healer, has sent us a copy of Leaves of Healing, Dowie's organ for the propagation of his divine art. Dowie claims to be the prophet Elijah rejuvenated and modernized to meet the needs of changed conditions. We have no light to make upon divine healer Dowie, but we want to insist upon our people patronizing home industries when needing treatment in the healing line. Divine healer Howard don't publish any magazines, but when it comes to healing the sick, present or absent he is right up with Dowie's best work.

ANOTHER KILLING.

Netter Gilstrap Shoots to Death Tom Burton at Cromwell Saturday.

About 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at Cromwell, Netter Gilstrap shot and instantly killed Thomas Burton. Gilstrap was immediately arrested and brought here and lodged in jail. Gilstrap was brought into court yesterday for examining trial, but on account of absent witnesses the case was continued till next Tuesday.

The killing was the result of ill feeling between the two men, dating back more than a year, when Burton's boy bought about a dollar's worth of groceries from Gilstrap and had them charged to his father. Some misunderstanding about this debt was the origin of the ill feeling which resulted in the killing of Burton Saturday. About a year ago Gilstrap and Burton had a scrap, in which Burton cut Gilstrap in a number of places. The men had not met since, till Saturday evening, when Gilstrap came out of Cooper & Martin's store, and, without speaking to Burton, fired three shots at him at close range; one taking effect in Burton's head, and the other two in his body, killing him instantly. Eye witnesses inform us that Burton was talking with some parties near the store, mentioned, and did not observe Gilstrap before he shot. Gilstrap says Burton had threatened his life, and that he was making an effort to draw a gun when he fired. A gun was found on Burton's body after he was killed.

Gilstrap was immediately arrested by Ego, Geo. Martin, and Sheriff Keown telephoned for Sheriff Keown started at once for Cromwell and brought Gilstrap over and lodged him in jail Saturday night.

Notice.
The firm of Miller & Westerfield having been dissolved, all parties knowing themselves indebted to the old firm must settle same at once and save cost. All old accounts are due and payable to me.

TWO VIEWS OF DEATH.

Two travelers wending on life's way, Paused to rest one summer day, Beneath an elm whose branches waved Above the crest of a new-made grave. O God! the youthful traveler said, Why fill the hearts of men with dread, Of the demon death, man's cruel fate, Since cursed and driven from Eden's gate?

Why must a babe in its mother's arms, Its face aglow with heavenly charms, Be torn from her breast like a flake of snow, Hurled from mountain top to vale below?

Why must a father bid a sad adieu To the wife he loves—his children too— And slumber with the unrisen dead While his hungry orphans cry for bread?

Why must a maid at the altar rail, See the man she loves turn deathly pale, And his soul escape to the spirit world, Without a farewell kiss to the life-sad girl?

Why must a youth, who has fought his way Through flood and flame from day to day, Up life's hill—near its purple crest— But ere he reach it, sink to rest?

Then, oh, God! wilt Thou reverse, Thy law that brought the awful curse Of death on mortal man?

I, too, the aged traveler said, Once viewed your demon, death, with dread, But, ay, my lad, those youthful fears Have vanished with the flight of years. I saw your bright faced babe one day, Turn pale and quit its childish play, And suffer until its mother's prayer For death's release was answered there.

I saw your father close the door, Where wife and children came no more And weeping for those spirits flown, Beg death in mercy bear him home.

I saw your maid weep tears of blood, O'er the cruellest curse of womanhood, 'Till burdened with remorse and shame She sought your demon death in vain.

I saw the aspiring youth you name, Crush conscience in his fight for fame, Until remorse, God's avenging breath, Made him fine for the solitude of death.

I saw Heaven's gate by an angel's hand, With vengeance closed on mortal man, But death rushed to Calvary from afar And that Jeweled gate now stands ajar.

Then let God's law of Eden stand, It Justice meets to every man, And opens the gate of heaven.

HOW ABOUT Your Heart

Feel your pulse a few minutes. Is it regular? Are you short of breath, after slight exertion as going up stairs, sweeping, walking, etc? Do you have pain in left breast, side or between shoulder blades, choking sensations, fainting or smothering spells, inability to lie on left side? If you have any of these symptoms you certainly have a weak heart, and should immediately take

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Mr. F. H. Oaks of Jamestown, N. Y., whose general face appears above, says: "Excessive use of tobacco seriously affected my heart. I suffered severe pains about the heart, and in the left shoulder and side; while the palpitation would awaken me from my sleep. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and soon found permanent relief."

HOW THE BACHELOR Tied Bows—Unconscious Revenge of a Woman Hater.

"Mr. Bradley, can you tie bows?" "Can I tie what?" "Tie bows! Didn't you understand what I said? Bows, bows, plain, everyday bows!" "Well, what of it if I can tie bows?" "Nothing, but if you can—if you are sure you can—why, I want you to tie these."

With this bare announcement to introduce her upon the scene, Mrs. Torrey entered the door through which she had been craning her neck, advanced to where Mr. Bradley, a gruff, grizzled bachelor of forty-five, sat poring over a volume of forgotten lore, and, deily slipping a shawl from her shapely shoulders, turned her back upon Bradley, saying as she did so, just as fast as she could talk: "Now, hurry, please; do hurry and tie those bows together on the back of my waist. If you don't I can never get down town to meet Mr. Torrey, because there is not a woman in the building this minute to do it for me. I've been all around and then I thought of you. Of course, you'll think I'm horrid, but you know Fred better than anybody else, and you know how he will tame and fuss if I'm not on time, so you must, that's all. You see, I can't twist my arms around that far, don't you. Well, why don't you go on and tie them for me? Please hurry. P-I-e-a-s-e."

Bradley stood aghast. He wore upon his face such a look as one would expect to see in his grandmother's spirit form was standing before him. For he knew that Bradley was eminently the most over-proper woman hater of his tribe. But Mrs. Torrey knew a few things besides the fact that she must have those bows tied; she knew by such an onslaught as she made—by simply rushing him—and never ceasing talking she could get the bothersome things tied. In other words, she intended to "flam" Bradley into doing her bidding. And, what's more, she did it.

Bradley commenced on bow No. 7, his fingers trembling and his breath coming hard, while Mrs. Torrey continued: "Fred simply insisted that I wear this waist, or I would not have bothered you, but—oh, dear, please, hurry, Mr. Bradley. There's the clock striking 3 now, and I'm sure to be late."

Bradley, poor chap, his hands about as jerky and useless to him as those on a jumping jack, was doing his level best. At that, he was proving himself unequal to the situation; the wife of his best friend was thoroughly aware of his perturbation, and was secretly laughing at him.

On he struggled with the refractory ribbons. Counting down from the top, he was at No. 6. Such tricks were as foreign to him as fowling babies, creatures he invariably ran from. In fact, Bradley had no use for any manner of creature that wore skirts.

Disposing of No. 6 and "disappearing" it, he dropped to No. 7, which effort brought him to the verge of perspiration. In his brow he saw the course of time he tied them all, and made the fact known by a sign of relief that seemed to come from his boots.

With an "Oh, thank you, Mr. Bradley," Mrs. Torrey was gone. Bradley gazed long and intently out of the window. The first expression, hard and stern, gave way to what those who knew him best would have said was the softest, kindest, the most reminiscent ever seen on his rather dark features, but this was lost the moment he turned to his book and he was again the Bradley they knew him. He closed the incident thus: "D—women."

The severity of his chagrin might have been ameliorated could he have seen Mrs. Torrey the following day, that selfsame waist on her knees,

POWERFUL MEN OF THE EAST

An Interesting Explanation of their Unusual Strength.

The Secret of their Marvelous Vitality and Nerve Force Jealously Guarded.

Women of the Harem Compound a Potion Whose Revivifying Effects are Almost Miraculous and Astonishing the Most Skilful.

The fondest hopes of ancient or modern seekers after the Fountain of Perpetual Youth, can scarcely have aimed higher than the results achieved by the marvelous compound, known throughout the East as EL MOKIBIL.

Travelers returning to Europe have, from time to time, brought back astonishing tales of the revivifying effects produced by this Wonder of the Orient.

Gravely compounded by the Women of the Harem, from formulas handed down orally from generation to generation, the secret of this preparation thus jealously guarded and known only to the inmates of the Harem and the Court Physicians, EL MOKIBIL has been practically unobtainable, excepting by the favored ones for whom it was intended.

Recently, however, a prominent native Arabian Physician, banished from his country for political offenses, and deprived of his vast possessions, has availed himself of his knowledge, to earn a livelihood by selling his knowledge, by supplying this marvelous compound, EL MOKIBIL, to the soldiers and wealthier classes of all Europe, who have cheerfully paid him large fees in return for the benefits received.

Content with the large income derived from this practice, this aged Physician has repeatedly refused very liberal offers made to him for the formula of his remedy, but he has finally agreed with the importing house of THE NEW-FILLER COMPANY, of Philadelphia, to put it up in convenient form for sale exclusively in the United States, and this firm having the exclusive agency, now offers it for the first time to the American public.

This remedy must not be confounded with the numerous nervous exhaustion, lost manhood, and self abuse remedies which are advertised under a variety of names, as there is absolutely nothing which scientific chemistry has been able to produce which can practically supply the place of EL MOKIBIL, a pure vegetable compound, extracted from rare tropical roots and herbs.

EL MOKIBIL is a remedy for one specific purpose, which is to strengthen the vital force and will the greatest success in nerve tonics, restoring decay of the vital principles, especially in the male, being unparalleled and never failing, and as its use is universal all over the East, where strong, virile men have large families of descendants are the rule, there must be no doubt, either as to its efficiency or benefit to the general system.

While it is an absolute specific and positively guaranteed to cure the worst case of nervous debility, lost manhood, or similar weaknesses due to excess or youthful errors, it is also used with the greatest success as a stimulant, giving power to all weak parts, and developing and maintaining the full vigor of the human system.

It is put up for the American trade in tablet form, and though extremely powerful, it is perfectly harmless and easily taken, one tablet being a dose and doing the work at once, and so evident as to leave no doubt in the mind of the patient. It will cure you as fast as you can.

Every package is opened and carefully examined by the Importers when received, and is then repacked under their seal and positive guarantee to cure. It will be sent prepaid, under plain cover, with full and complete directions, on receipt of the price, $1.00 per package, or six packages for $6.00. Address THE NEW-FILLER COMPANY, Market and 5th Sts., Philadelphia.

THE BOERS in Battle.

A branch of warfare to which the Boers attach almost supreme importance, and rightly so, is scouting. At this their roving habits and mode of life make them particularly adept, although during the present war some of the most valuable work in this direction has been performed by Uitlanders. Two corps of scouts, one composed of Frenchmen under Captain Le Gallien, and the other of Italians under the command of Captain Ricciardi, both recruited in Johannesburg during the earlier months of the war, rendered services of almost incalculable value to the Boer cause. Of an essentially cautious nature, the Boers never think of moving in any new direction until the country has been thoroughly reconnoitred by scouting parties and the enemy has been located; and it is to this fact that their marvelous mobility is largely due. Having ascertained the position of their opponent and calculated the numbers likely to be engaged at any given point, the scouts report to the general of the forces to which they are attached; and the burghers are then shifted from one position to another, so as to be ready for all emergencies. Thus it is that during the present campaign the Boers have almost invariably been just where they could do the most effective work, and in about the right numbers to do it.

Another method of guarding against surprise is that of "crow-nest". Choosing as elevated a position as possible in the neighborhood of their trenches or laager, the Boers erect a cover of loose bushes, made to appear so natural that from quite a short distance it is easily mistaken for the growing, shrubby bush with which the country is to a great extent covered. Planted on the top of a kopje, the Boers, with their telescopes and field-glasses, are able to keep a look-out over miles of the surrounding country whilst themselves perfectly hidden.

Having decided upon the position they intend to occupy and defend, the burghers proceed to dig trenches or erect low stone walls, or "schanzes" as they are called, of loose stone piled up some three feet high; or, if the ground is suitable, they do both. If anything, the latter afford the more effective protection of the two; since not only do these schanzes give almost perfect shelter from rifle-fire, but through the interstices between the stones the men are able to watch for the approaching enemy. On the smallest mark being presented, they either use the interstices as loopholes, or else they pop up, aim, fire, and are down again in an almost incredibly short space of time. In this manner they can pick off the advancing soldiers whilst remaining in almost perfect security themselves. This method of fighting explains to a great extent the extraordinary disproportion in the important engagements fought during the present war. These schanzes are frequently several miles in length, and are sometimes built in duplicate or even triplicate; thus enabling the Boers, on being driven back from the first, to retire and continue to fight behind the second and third. The admirable construction of their trenches has been testified to on more than one occasion by the British generals, notably by Sir Redvers Buller in his dispatches on the operation in Natal.—Forum.

Refuses to Claim the Body.

The death of William Dixon, an inmate of the Indiana Reformatory in Jeffersonville, discloses an unusual circumstance concerning the feeling of a mother. Cases are exceptional where a mother does not manifest a love that is loyal, yet even death did not touch the heart of the mother of Dixon, the convict. Her son robbed her, she vowed when the prison doors closed behind him her affection for him was at an end. How well she kept that vow is illustrated in the conduct of the mother when informed of her boy's death and a request for instructions as to the disposition of the body.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

'Something New Under The Sun.'

All Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acids, cathartics, and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and speciality of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Snuffles" is the only perfect Cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve Hay Fever or Cold in the Head.

Catarrh when neglected often leads to Consumption. "Snuffles" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure Catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Snuffles" the "Guaranteed Catarrh Cure."

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERNER, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would be cured, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and today, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
